Make Music News: April 19, 2007

Welcome to the April 19 newsletter for Make Music New York: a free citywide musical celebration coming this June 21.

For one day a year -- the first day of summer -- public spaces in all five boroughs will be turned into informal musical stages for all New Yorkers, amateurs and professionals, to perform for friends, neighbors, and passers-by, turning the city into a festival of live music making.

Read on to learn more, or see our website.

May 1st Deadline for Street Closures

If you want to close a street for your Make Music New York event, there's still time... but not much!

Normally, street closure permits must be filed with the City 60 days in advance. We've gotten a short extension for Make Music New York, and the permits will be accepted up until May 1st.

All of the information you need is available here on our website. A few reminders:

- * Street closure applications need to be submitted by you, not by us.
- * The applications must be submitted by groups -- such as churches, block associations, civic groups, schools, art centers, or Business Improvement Districts -- not individuals.

According to the City's rules, the applicant must be a "community-based, not-for-profit organization, association, or the like, which has an indigenous relationship to the specific street or community or both, for which the event is proposed and which demonstrates that it has the support of the community and is willing to take full responsibility for the conduct of the event."

* Your local community board must sign-off on the permit before it goes to the Street Activity Permit Office. Each community board has a different procedure -- call them, and they will help you file these permits correctly.

* Once you've filed your application, email us at makemusicny@gmail.com and let us know about your event!

Poster Designer Selected: Danielle MacIndoe

Last month, twenty-six students from the Parsons School sent us their design ideas for the inaugural Make Music New York poster.

Out of many worthy candidates, Sophomore Danielle MacIndoe's pigeon was the clear favorite. (A draft is on the left.)

Our plan is to print thousands of copies of the poster, and distribute them for free to each musician and concert organizer. The dotted line shows where an 8.5 x 11 inch piece of paper may be placed to give customized concert information for each event. Hi-res versions will also be available on our website for download.

Since Make Music New York is so hard to "pigeonhole," we're excited to have an easily adaptable design, appropriate for any type of music, featuring the official bird of New York City sidewalks. Congratulations to Danielle!
